Modena Water Butt

The Modena water butt is a sleek, contemporary rainwater water butt designed to resemble a shallow planter, making it ideal for modern gardens.

With a 100-litre capacity, it offers an efficient way to collect rainwater even in small outdoor spaces.

The square upper tray can be finished with decorative pebbles (not included) or planted with small alpines, allowing it to blend naturally into its surroundings.

An integrated, removable basket filter ensures easy cleaning, while flexible top or side filling options simplify installation. Finished in anthracite with a subtle fleck, it includes a chrome-plated tap and durable brass connections for long-lasting performance.
